Abstract The abstract should be about 200 words, in a 10-point italic font such as Times (preferred) or Computer Modern. It should summarise the scope and contribution of the paper in a concise and accurate manner without references to other works. The title should be centred in a 14-point Roman bold font followed by the authors names, affiliations, and either e-mail addresses or home page URL. Phone and fax numbers should be omitted.

Keywords A list of keywords based on those given in the Call for Papers should be included.

1 Overall format

Papers should be prepared for A4 paper, with 25 mm margins (equivalently, the text height should be 247 mm and the width 160 mm), using left and right justification, in a 10-point Roman font such as Times (preferred) or Computer Modern, in two-column format.¹ The gutter between the columns should be 5 mm wide. No page headers, footers or numbers should be included.

Citations should be in the IEEE style, for example Hoare [4], or Ganapathi and Fischer [3], or Barnes [1, 2].

Do not include page numbers in your paper.

Note that this document is primarily concerned with the appearance of submitted papers. Please read the Call for Papers for information on the desired content of submitted papers.

2 Detailed formatting instructions

Now for some details.

2.1 Caption at the lower left corner

The lower left corner of the first page of your paper should include a caption showing the name of the conference and the conference dates, as is shown in this sample paper. If your paper is prepared other than with ¹Footnotes may be used and should be in 7 point text, numbered from 1 through the text.

Proceedings of the 16th Australasian Document Computing Symposium, Canberra, Australia, 2 December 2011.

\LaTeX , please ensure that you duplicate the required wording into your paper.

2.2 Section headings

Section headings should be numbered and be in a 12-point bold font, and be in the mixed-case style used in this sample document.

Authors should leave 15 points of space before a section heading and 5 points of space after it. The first paragraph of each (sub)section should not be indented. All other paragraphs should be indented by 5 mm.

Subsection headings should also be in a 12-point bold font.

Subsubsections should not be used.

2.3 Figures and tables

Figures and tables should be displayed as near as possible to the first reference to them in the text. Captions should be centered below the display and figures and tables should be numbered consecutively.

Try to avoid having lots of horizontal and vertical lines in your tables—intelligent use of whitespace is far more effective.

3 Information for \LaTeX users

This document `sample.tex` (and corresponding style files `sample.sty` and `sample.bst`) is available as a \LaTeX source file via the conference home page:

4 Other information

Some more stuff that you need to know.

4.1 Submission

Submissions to ADCS 2011 should be sent according to the directions at <http://www.cs.rmit.edu.au/adcs2011>. Do not send your L^AT_EX source, or PostScript, or a MS-Word file. Send only a printable PDF version.

All submissions must be original work, not previously published elsewhere, and not currently submitted to any other conference or journal.

Submissions that differ markedly in length or style from these guidelines risk being rejected without further consideration.

4.2 Submission length

Submissions of full-length papers should be at most 3000 words, or eight pages in this style. Submissions for Posters, Short papers, Industry Status Reports, and Demonstrations should be approximately 1500 words long, or four pages in this required style.

4.3 Timetable

The deadline for submissions, and the timetable for notifications, appears on the conference home page.

4.4 Registration

Submission of a paper should be regarded as a commitment that, should the paper be accepted, at least one of the authors will attend the conference to present the paper.

Registration information will be sent with letters of acceptance, and will also be available from the conference home page.

4.5 Conference information

General information about the conference may be found at the conference home page:

<http://www.cs.rmit.edu.au/adcs2011>

Acknowledgements Acknowledgements should be placed at the end of the text, rather than as footnotes to the title or authors.
